Re: United States v. Jason Williams
Dkt. No. 11-CR-424 (JG)

Dear Judge Gleeson:

Mr. Williams' sentence is currently scheduled for August 17, 2012. This letter is to request an adjournment until a convenient date in the Spring, 2013. I have spoken to AUSA Soumya Dayananda who does not object to this request.

Mr. Williams was indicted last month for Murder in Aid of Racketeering under Ind. No. 10-CR-431 (CM) in the Southern District of New York. Mr. Williams is not accused of being the shooter, but of aiding and abetting James Rosemond, a co-defendant in that case as well.

There is a significant likelihood that the resolution of the Southern District case will impact this sentencing. I cannot effectively represent Mr. Williams on this sentence without discussing his relationship with Mr. Rosemond, a topic which I cannot prudently discuss while the Southern District case is pending.

Mr. Rosemond's sentence has already been adjourned to the Spring of 2013. There is no reason not to do the same in Mr. Williams' case.

Please feel free to have your Chambers call me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Lloyd Epstein
